Week at a Glance

Reading- This week we have been learning good habits for reading. The students have set goals for their reading time and are tracking the books they are reading during read to self.

Math- We began looking at fact families for the numbers 6, 7, and 8. We talked about all the different ways to make those numbers and have begun solving word problems together as a class.

Writing- At the beginning of the week we looked at examples of how to writing and the different types that are all around us. Towards the end of the week we wrote an example together and began writing our first how to individually.

Science/ Social Studies- We will not begin science and social studies until next month.

Social- This week we worked on transitioning from place to place and talked about raising your hand when you have something to say.
